The FrameWorks has been serving the people of the Twin Cities in professional custom framing for over 35 years when it was started by Bill Rondano. Located in Highland Park district of St. Paul, Minnesota, we love the community of people that surround us. We are enthusiastic about providing quality service in design, function and archival strategies that will ensure longevity for any media. It makes our day to see a customer pick up their project and leave with a smile on their face. That's why we do this—we enjoy the craft itself and the satisfaction of knowing we're providing people with quality work that will last a lifetime.

In 2008 FrameWorks opened up their wall space to serve as an art gallery for local artists. We feature new artists every 6 weeks, offering a diverse range of mediums and subjects. Each show consists of an art opening, giving customers a chance to meet the artists and celebrate their talent and skill.
